

How to Align a Roadmap to Achieve Consistent Delivery

Our client develops platforms for success
Real Estate | Pacific Northwest

Executive Summary

Our client was looking to improve their professional development in order to align their strategic roadmap and use consistent delivery processes for their portfolio.

CorSource implemented a complete solution including a training toolkit with leadership coaching, a roadmap toolset, project management enablement, and operational oversight processes to help our client increase the performance of the team managing their portfolio.

About Our Client

- Our client is in the real estate investment space with just under 1,000 employees supporting several billions dollars in business.
- They are located in the Pacific Northwest.
- Their mission is to focus on industry-leading projects based on parameters including location, accessibility, function, design, sustainability, and economic performance.

Challenges and Objectives:

Our client was needing to advance their ability to methodically develop and execute their roadmap. The goal was to get better alignment, rapid decision-making, and a process the team can trust. They needed a holistic approach with a regimented set of processes and an ongoing training program to align both the leadership team and managers.

How CorSource's Technology Consulting Services Helped:

CorSource's Strategic Consultants identified, developed, and implemented a process and tools to enable the client to right-size their approach, prioritize their roadmap, and achieve their delivery goals. CorSource was also instrumental in providing an effective coaching and training plan to ensure rapid adoption and continuous optimization of the processes. The resulting consistent method is also backed by data which is used to successfully prioritize efforts and outcomes.

The Outcome

Our client is better able to identify and focus on initiatives that deliver the highest business value.

This includes:

- A consistent technology-based tool implemented across their entire organization
- Enabled team members with ongoing weekly project management training
- An improved oversight process to ensure objectives are met
- A team that trusts the process and its ability to improve professional development and business performance
